Sakamody Pass, Atlas Mountains

In 1933 or 1935 (accounts vary) Clive Scarff led an expedition to North Africa covering 'thousands of miles and several weeks'. The unidentified Eccles was towed by a Humber ostensibly to test a new transmission.

Mixed in this set is another outfit apparently also in N Africa.

HCC Note - Photo with Clive Scarff set, also believed to be North Africa.

Could this be the source of the idea that there was a trip in 1933 with a different outfit?
